Poems for Shared, Choral, Paired, and Echo Reading

Compiled by Mary Ann Reilly (2012)
City

- Langston Hughes

In the morning the city
Spreads its wings
Making a song
In stone that sings.

In the evening the city Goes to bed
Hanging lights
About its head.

Mi casa

- Francisco X. Alarcón

es ruidosa
y alegre como mi familia
día y noche
no deja
de rechinar como los niños
del vecindario

quisiera
en la calle también jugar.

My House

- Francisco X. Alarcón

is loud and cheerful
like my family day and night keeps on squeaking just like the kids from the neighborhood would rather be playing on the street

Being a Tree

- Opal Palmer Adisa

One time
I stood on the arm of the sofa balancing on one leg my arms spread wide like branches.

I was a gigantic tree in the deep green forest.
Many birds sat on my branches chirping their happy songs.
Small animals nestled by my trunk prancing and playing, being free.
And just as a blue jay was about to land on my branch Mom shouted, “Be careful!”
The blue jay flew away.
I fell, and my tree toppled over.

In the Inner City

- Lucille Clifton

in the inner city
or like we call it
home
we think a lot about uptown and the silent nights and the houses straight as dead men and the pastel lights and we hang on to our no place happy to be alive
and in the inner city
or
like we call it home.

Lluvia

- Alma Flor Ada

Plin, plin, plin,
la lluvia suena
como violín.

Borrombombón,
resuena el trueno
como violín.

Rain

- Alma Flor Ada

Plink, plink, plink, the rain sounds like A violin.

Booroomboomboom,
the thunder is a deep trombone.

Tomates

- Alma Flor Ada

Tomate fresco
en la ensalada,
en la salsa,
en la enchilada.
Tomate rojo
en la cocina,
en los taquitos
de mi madrña.

Tomatoes

- Alma Flor Ada

Fresh tomato in a salad,
in the salsa,
in enchiladas.
Red tomato
in the kitchen,
in the little tacos
my godmother loves to make.

What I Love About Summer

- Douglas Florian

Morning glories
Campfire stories
Picking cherries
And blueberries
Riding bikes
Mountain hikes
Bird calls
Curve balls
Short sleeves
Green leaves
Swimming holes
Fishing poles
Nature walks
Corn stalks
Skipping stones
Ice cream cones Double plays
And barefoot days.

Some Summers

- Douglas Florian

Some summers blaze.
Some summers haze.
Some summers simmer.
Some summers shimmer.
Some summers sizzle.
Some summers fizzle.
Some summers flame
Bo two summers
Are the same.

Dog Day

- Douglas Florian

It’s hot and it’s hazy.
My body feels lazy.
My clothing is clinging.
No songbird is singing.
The temperature’s torrid.
My temperament’s horrid.
Has anyone thrown
This dog day a bone?

Storm

- Ann Turner

Meadow flowers rub the sky like kittens nuzzling
a mother’s belly;
gold, white, orange stretch and search until sky licks them flat again with its fierce wet tongue.

Storm

- Elizabeth Swados

Boom! Thunder!
Boom! Thunder!
First the lightning,

Crack!
It’s frightening.

Then the BOOM,
Thunder,
Outside my room

BOOM, the thunder
And the rain pours,
Like nails on the roof

And POOF!
Out goes the lights.
What a night

BOOM, Thunder!
Night of fright,
Night of wonder,
BOOM, Thunder!

Michael Is Afraid of Storms

- Gwendolyn Brooks

Lightning is angry in the night.
Thunder spanks our house.
Rain is hating our old elm—
It punishes the boughs.

Now, I am next to nine years old,
And crying’s not for me.
But if I touch my mother’s hands.
Perhaps no one will see.

And if I keep herself in sight — Follow her busy dress—
No one will notice my wild eye.
No one will laugh, I guess.

Lemonade Stand

- Myra Cohn Livingston

Every summer
under the shade
we fix up a stand
to sell lemonade.

A stack of cups,
a pitcher if ice,
a shirtboard sign
to tell the price.

A dime for the big.
A nickel for the small.
The nickel cup’s short.
The dime cup’s tall.

Plenty of sugar
to make it sweet,
and sometimes cookies
for us to eat.

But when the sun
moves into the shade
it gets too hot
to sell lemonade.

Nobody stops
so we put things away and drink what’s left and start to play.

Sun Is Laughing

- Grace Nichols

This morning she got up on the happy side of bed, pulled back
the gray sky-curtains and poked her head through the blue window of heaven,
her yellow laughter
spilling over,
falling broad across the grass, brightening the washing on the line,
giving more shine
to the back of a ladybug and buttering up all the world.

Sun

- Valerie Worth

The sun
Is a leaping fire Too hot
To go near.

But it will still Lie down
In warm yellow squares
On the floor

Like a flat Quilt, where The cat can curl
And purr.

<table> <thead>
<tr>
<th>Jitomates Risueños</th> <th>Laughing Tomatoes</th>
</tr> </thead> <tbody>
<tr>
<td>- Francisco X. Alarcón</td>
<td>- Francisco X. Alarcón</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>en el jardín</td>
<td>in our backyard</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>plantamos</td>
<td>we plant</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>jitomates</td>
<td>tomatoes</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>los vegetales</td>
<td>the happiest</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>más felices</td>
<td>of all</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>de todos</td>
<td>vegetables</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>alegres</td>
<td>with joy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>se redondean</td>
<td>they grow round</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>de sabor</td>
<td>with flavor</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>risueños</td>
<td>laughing</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>se ponen</td>
<td>they change</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>colorados</td>
<td>to red</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>convirtiendo</td>
<td>turning</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>sus arbustos</td>
<td>their wire-framed</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>alambrados</td>
<td>bushes</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>en árboles</td>
<td>into</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>de Navidad</td>
<td>Christmas trees</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>en primavera</td>
<td>in spring</td>
</tr> </tbody> </table>

If You Catch a Firefly

- Lilian Moore

If you catch a firefly
    and keep it in a jar You may find that you have lost A tiny star.

If you let it go then,
    back into the night,
You may see it once again Star bright.

Castanet Clicks

- Pat Mora

Uno, dos one, two baskets blue.

Tres, cuatro three, four one bell more.

Cinco, seis five, six castanet clicks.

Siete, ocho
seven, eight copper plates.

Nueve, diez nine, ten count again.

Ode to Buena Vista Bilingual School

- Francisco X. Alarcón

here Spanish goes to school with English uno-dos-tres is as easy as one-two-three

here children
 of all races write beautiful poems

in English and Spanish
 even in spirals

and following the beat of teacher Felipe's clave

here children
 learn to sing
 with their hearts

Ode to My Shoes

- Francisco X. Alarcón

my shoes
rest all night under my bed tired they stretch and loosen their laces wide open they fall asleep and dream of walking they revisit the places they went to during the day and wake up cheerful relaxed so soft Summer

- Elizabeth Swados

Tsss
Summer sounds,
Tsss
Concrete and heat
Sneakered feet on tar, Stepping in a melted candy bar,
Squish
Crunch, crunch
Gravel on the street, Whoosh
Hydrant waterfall,
Zzzzt
The sun’s an orange basketball, Bonk bonk

Summer sounds,
And then
Summer’s gone.

Arrivals

- Ann Turner

The swallows light
on sloping wires,
then tails flicking
they slice the clouds more delicate than surgeons, let summer in.

On the Corner

- Carole Boston Weatherford

The shoeshine man pops a cloth across black wing tips, his face reflected in polished leather. As little girls jump double Dutch, beaded braids swirl and click. Brothers with time on their hands croon three-part harmony, setting pace for foot traffic up and down the sidewalk. A boy with a boom box heads for the blacktop to shoot hoops. At the bus stop, a lady toting a shopping bag tells me, “Be careful crossing the street, honey.”

Sidewalk Chalk

- Carole Boston Weatherford

Big and bold now, write your name.
Draw an arrow, then take aim at a puffy heart: “Kim loves Kyle.”
Doodling’s sure to bring a smile.
How about some tic-tac-toe?
You be X; I’ll be O.
Draw a yellow happy face or the finish line for a relay race, a wide, wide river to leap across,
a little circle for beanbag toss,
a bigger circle to play dodge ball.
Trace a shadow ten feet tall.
Make a line for tug-of-war and signs that no one dare ignore.
Create a sun with a beaming grin,
a great white shark with a giant fin.
Draw a square to make home plate,
a swirly figure eight to skate.
Big and bold now, write your name.
Keep score for sidewalk games.

Ducha diaria

- Francisco X. Alarcón

en el verano llueve a cántaros
todos los días

a las cinco en punto toda le gente
busca resguardo

pero pronto
se despeja
y de nuevo sale el sol

las calles
las aceras brillan de tan limpias

después
de tomar su docha diaria

during summer
it pours every day

at five on the dot everybody takes cover

but soon
it clears up and the sun comes back

streets sidewalks shine so neat and clean

after taking their daily shower

Árboles

- Alma Flor Ada

Compañeros de mi infancia, hermosos gigantes verdes.
Ciruelos, peral, pistachos, durazneros, chabacanos,
almendros, naranjos, kiwi, cerezos, nogal, manzanos.
Árboles que dan la fruta que mis padres van pizcando.

Trees

- Alma Flor Ada

Companions of my childhood, handsome green giants.
Plums, pears, pistachios.
peaches and apricots,
almonds, oranges, kiwis,
cherries, walnuts, and apples.
Trees that bear the fruits that my parents harvest.
Summer Shower

- David McCord

Window window window pane:
Let it let it let it rain Drop by drop by drop by drop.

Run your rivers from the top Zigzaggy down, like slow wet forks Of lightning, so the slippery corks Of bubbles float and overtake Each other till three bubbles make A kind of boat too far to fit
The river. That’s the end of it.

Straight
down
it slides and with a splash

Is lost against the window sash.

Window window window pane:
Let it let it let it rain

City Noise

- Karla Kuskin

So what did you see?
An old tin can,
It was sitting in a gutter
I took it in my hand.
I held it very carefully against my ear
And listened, listened, listened.
So what did you hear?

Squalling
Calling
Crashing
Rushing
Honking
Joking
Belching
Smoking
Buying
Selling
Laughing
Yelling
Running Wheeling
Roaring
Squealing
Cars and garbage
Reds and greens
Girls and women
Men
Machines Getting Giving
Dogs and boys
Living Living Living
City noise.

Lou’s Barbershop

- Carole Boston Weatherford

Inside the storefront, snake plants thrive, gossip grows wild, and men trade jibes.
Between gulps of Coke, they shoot the breeze and tell half-truths no one believes.
News of comings and goings spreads while Lou minds his business and just cuts heads.
Two old men who must live in the shop play a game of spades that never stops.
Lou wipes the seat and I climb right in.
Then he raises the chair and gives it a spin.
I sit very still and hairs fall to the cape as clippers buzz and a style takes shape.
Dusted with talc, splashed with cologne, I feel as if I’m a prince on a throne.

Sol matutino

- Francisco X. Alarcón

calentando
mi cama en la mañana

el sol me llama por la ventana

“despierta levántate
ven afuera”

Morning Sun

- Francisco X. Alarcón

warming up my bed
in the morning

the Sun
calls me through the window

“wake up get up come on out”

Jackie Robinson

- Lucille Clifton

ran against walls
without breaking;
in night games
was not foul but, brave as a hit over whitestone fences, entering the conquering dark.

José Canseco

(jump rope rhyme)

José Canseco is a very nice man.
He hits all the home runs that he can.
How many homers did he hit today?
Let's count them up in a very new way.
One-a, two-a, three-a

On a Summer Day

- Isabel Joshlin Glaser

Noon’s lion-faced sun shakes out its orange mane.

Its tongue
scorches leaves.

Ever the bugs want rain.

Summer Moon

- Ann Turner

It doesn’t stop,
the hurrying, growing,
even after the sun rolls up the day and voles sleep, swallows rest, the moon pours out its light on crickets, owl, and skunk while plants stretch up to that other sun.

Manhattan Lullaby

- Norma Farber

Lulled by rumble, babble, beep, let these little children sleep;
let these city girls and boys dream a music in the noise, hear a tune their city plucks up from buses, up from trucks up from engines wailing fire!
up ten stories high, and higher,
up from hammers, rivets, drills,
up tall buildings, over sills,
up where city children sleep,
lulled by rumble, babble, beep.

When a City Leans Against the Sky

- Allan A. DeFina

When a city
leans against the sky, buildings sneeze and press for elbowroom
with the clouds.
The sky turns blue
and bursts into sun or moon or stars.

Stories

- Allan A. DeFina

Only a city has more stories
behind each windowed shelf
than a library can hold or a storyteller tell.

To Walk in Warm Rain

- David McCord

To walk in warm rain
And get wetter and wetter!
To do it again—
To walk in warm rain
Till you drip like a drain.
To walk in warm rain
And get wetter and wetter.

Where I Live

- Carole Boston Weatherford

Where I live
there are no trees to climb, but I still reach for the stars.
My dreams take root in concrete,
and my branches lift the sky.

Works Cited

